DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claim 23 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by US 4,651,941 to Muller. Muller discloses a rotatable supply roll(16) for a storage film (17) and a rotatable storage roll (18) receiving the storage film, the storage film storing the sheet-like objects; a guide device (figure 1) which guides the sheet-like objects onto and away from the storage film so that they are guided into and out of a coil on the storage roll; the guide device comprising a conveyor table (10) which is pivotable (figure 1, 8) and a length of the conveyor table being adjustable parallel to a conveying direction of the sheet-like objects, the table comprising a transfer conveyor (5) which guides the sheet-like objects into the coil on the storage roll and for removing the sheet-like objects from the coil on the storage roll. Examiner contends that the language “is pivotable and a length of the conveyor table being adjustable parallel to a conveying direction” is functional as it sets forth no structural limitation and does not require any pivoting or change in length but only that they are possible. MPEP 2114 sets forth that apparatus claims must be structurally distinguishable from the prior art. The inclusion of apparatus structure, which enables the change in length or positive recitation of the length changing would give patentable weight to the specified language of the claim. For example claim 17 sets forth both structure (slot guide, extension) and a change in length (forcibly displaced).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 16, 18, and 24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Muller in view of US 4,337,864 to McLean. Muller further discloses the storage film being guided between the supply roll and the storage roll over at least one deflection roller (21), a moveable deflection roller (9, 22), a pivot pin (8) or axis (8) about which the guide device rotates (figure 1). Regarding the change in length of the conveyor table see discussion above relative to claim 23. Muller does not disclose a housing containing the claimed elements. McLean discloses a roll storage system housing (28) with the components of the system disposed within (figure1) for the purpose of resisting reasonable attempts to obtain currency notes (c3 lines 45+).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the applicant's invention to have modified Muller to include a roll storage system housing (28) with the components of the system disposed within, as taught by McLean, for the purpose of resisting reasonable attempts to obtain currency notes (c3 lines 45+).

Re claim 18 Muller further discloses a transfer end of the conveyor table remote from the pivot pin is pretensioned so as to rest on the coil on the storage roll (c5 lines 45+).

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 17 and 19-22 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
